

Are you trying to reach the area's new homebuyers?

Last year, the Chamber initiated a new program that supplements the welcome bag service provided free to all members. They include a mailing sent to the homebuyers at a cost of 30 cents each. On the average, this would allow businesses to reach each new homeowner for $48 per year.

The second service involves three ring binders given to the chamber. These binders have insert dividers that would allow half-sheets of paper to feature information about area businesses. Costs have been set at 75 cents each. On the average, this would allow businesses to reach each new homeowner for about $120 per year and would be in a more permanent setting.

In each scenario, participating businesses would be given the list of new residents for their reference. Items can either be submitted to the chamber office or for a $20 flat fee the chamber's staff can design them.
